

Senate Deals Final Blow To Tax Proposal

Russia Still Considering Inspection Plan, Says Bulganin

FREAK WINDSTORM picked up two frame ad wire chicken shelters on the Ora Bonser farm, Stroudsburg RD 2, at 4:20 yesterday afternoon. Blowing in cyclone-fashion, the wind lifted the small shelters, carried one about 20 feet and the other more than 100 feet away and dropped them, smashing them into pieces. Photo above shows (foreground) the spot where one shelter stood. In background the shelter itself is visible. Troughs, water pans and egg boxes inside the shelters were unharmed. There were four eggs in one nest. One was broken; the other three were uncracked. No other damage from wind was reported last night.

HONK, HONK, KIDS—HERE COMES THE RAIN The geese in Hamilton Township had something to honk about yesterday—Hamilton was one of half a dozen Monroe County communities to get rain. It was a fast, blinding rain in spots. Estimates of the total fall ranged from about a quarter-inch in Hamilton to somewhat less in Bushkill, Minisink Hills, Shawnee and other regions. Stroudsburg got no measurable rain at all. After the rain was over these geese on the Ora Bonser farm in Hamilton, ventured out to take a gander at themselves in a puddle in the driveway.

Tells World Ike's Idea Being Weighed

MOSCOW, Aug. 5 (AP)—Premier Nikolai Bulganin made a surprise second appearance today before the Supreme Soviet (Parliament) to assure the Russian people and the world Moscow still is considering President Eisenhower's proposal for mutual aerial inspection of military establishments.

"Was Misunderstood"
Bulganin said he was misunderstood yesterday when his remarks were taken as a rejection of the American proposal.

Naturally, Bulganin said, the Soviet Union prefers its own disarmament proposals, but it would not refuse to consider other sincere plans, and still is studying the President's. "Everything will turn out well," the white-bearded Premier said, and the deputies cheered. Yesterday the deputies burst into laughter when Bulganin said there was plenty of room in both countries to hide things from planes.

This unscheduled second appearance came after President Eisenhower told his news conference in Washington he did not feel the Soviet Union had finally slammed the door to agreement on disarmament. The President said the United States would consider Soviet proposals sympathetically in a search for a formula fair to both. The Eisenhower proposal at the Geneva summit conference called for an exchange of military blueprints of both countries as a step toward the mutual trust needed to pave the way for disarmament.

Own Plan "Realistic"

The Russians made no public reply to this proposal until yesterday. Bulganin told his Parliament that though he paid tribute to the implied desire to contribute to the solution of the complicated disarmament problem, there could be no considerable effect from it, since both countries had areas vast enough to hide anything. The Soviet proposals advanced May 10 on the disarmament question, Bulganin said, were more realistic. Moscow's proposals called for withdrawal of foreign forces from Germany, prohibition of nuclear weapons and a system of controls against violations at key ports and transport centers.

Bill Voted Down Second Time To Bar Further Test

HARRISBURG, Aug. 5 (AP)—The Republican-controlled Senate today laid to rest—finally and irrevocably—Gov. Leader's proposal for a 411 million dollar classified income tax.

The 26 Republican senators temporarily revived the House-passed bill they defeated last night and then voted it down again to prevent any further reconsideration by the Democrats in the 1955 Legislature.

999 Cases Of Polio In New England

BOSTON, Aug. 5 (AP)—The 1955 polio total for the six-state New England area today reached just under the 1,000 mark as 115 new cases were reported.

Massachusetts, hardest hit in the seasonal outbreak, reported 89 new cases and a total of 773 to date. At this time a year ago, the total was 88.

The New England totals with corresponding 1954 figures: Connecticut, 108-92; New Hampshire, 40-14; Rhode Island, 37-11; Vermont, 18-6; Maine, 23-9.

A total of 220 polio cases had been reported in the six states on this date last year as compared to 999 today.

Massachusetts had had 20 polio deaths to date. State health officials said today no deaths have been reported among children inoculated with Salk polio vaccine, although 19 recipients of the vaccine have been stricken with the disease.

Five New Hampshire youngsters have contracted polio after being vaccinated, state health officials said.

U. S. Surpluses May Be Sold To Red Bloc

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (AP)—Now that world tensions are easing, the United States may try to sell some of its huge farm surpluses to Russia and satellites, officials said today.

These government farm officials said they expect the Eisenhower administration to re-examine soon the feasibility of a resumption of trade with Iron Curtain countries. The administration has been reluctant to do this largely because of a belief that American consumers would disapprove sales of the farm products at prices below those prevailing in this country. These lower prices would, of course, be necessary under world competitive conditions.

A development which led the officials to predict early review of the trade problem was a speech made at East Lansing, Mich., last night by President Charles B. Shuman of the powerful American Farm Bureau Federation. Advocating a resumption of trade relations with the Russians, he said this would contribute to world peace and would be a major step in expanding markets for U. S. farm products.

Undersecretary of Agriculture True D. Morse called Shuman's speech "significant" because, he said, it came from the head of an organization representing an "influential cross-section of the country."

Wealthy Woman Feared Slain; Bloody Car, Clothing Found

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 5 (AP)—The mysterious disappearance of the pretty young wife of a wealthy automobile dealer, followed within 14 hours by discovery of her blood-smeared automobile and clothing, today set police hunting for her body.

Maj. Eugene Pond, chief of detectives, said 34-year-old Mrs. Wilma Allen, mother of two small boys, apparently had been kidnapped, forced to drive to an isolated spot and slain in a brutal attack.

The attractive brunette was last seen at noon yesterday, leaving a beauty shop where she had received a hair set and manicure in preparation for dining out with her husband, William R. (Bill) Allen Jr., operator of one of Kansas City's larger Chevrolet agencies. Allen became alarmed at 7 p.m.

sent several of his salesmen cruising the city in an unsuccessful hunt for his wife and then called in police at 10 p.m.

Mrs. Allen's 1955 blue and white convertible, locked and undamaged was found by a patrolman in a parking area near the Union Station off one of the city's busiest thoroughfares at 2:10 a.m.

The rear seat of the car, partially pulled out, and the floor were drenched with a great quantity of blood. Stuffed into the car's trunk compartment, and also blood-smeared, were the blouse, skirt, shoes and underclothing Mrs. Allen had been wearing when last seen. Missing were her stockings, a scarf and purse. Police said Mrs. Allen apparently had only $25 with her when she left the beauty parlor and they discounted robbery as a motive in her disappearance.

999 Cases Of Polio In New England

There were no funeral orations for this burial; the GOP senators didn't say a word about their opposition to the levy as they went through the technicalities of obliterating the measure.

Sen. John H. Dent, in contrast to his biting attacks of yesterday, was conciliatory in his remarks to the Republicans. The Democratic floor leader said:

"I would humbly beseech the Republican majority to discuss among themselves and their advisers this problem so that when we come back here next week we will get a suggestion on a sphere of taxation in which we can operate."

"If we do, I am sure we will find the basis for some compromise."

But the governor himself was sharply critical of what he termed the "coldly premeditated destruction" of his tax program.

"Republican obstruction, without spelling out their own tax remedies, does nothing to alleviate the tragic lack of money necessary to operate all governmental functions," the governor said in a statement.

Senate Reopens

The sudden death of Sen. Patrick J. Toole (D-Luzerne) threw a pall over the Senate.

Toole, 53, keeled over at a hotel here prior to the Senate session. Only last night he joined his Democratic colleagues in voting for the income tax.

In private life, Toole operated the "Bear Creek Inn" in the mountains near Wilkes-Barre. He was a native of Minersville, Luzerne County.

His death reduces the Democratic count to 23. Actually, it will be 22 Democrats until Sen. Miles R. Derr (D-Lycum) returns after recuperating from a heart attack.

The Senate recessed until next Tuesday in deference to Toole's death. Its members will go to Wilkes-Barre for the funeral either Monday or Tuesday next week.

When it returns Tuesday, the Senate will pass finally the administration's proposed new boxing code. The House-passed measure is supported by both Republicans and Democrats.

After this action, the Senators will take a recess until Aug. 29—joining in a move the House took yesterday.

GOP Studies Budget

Meanwhile, Sen. Rowland B. Mahany, Senate Republican floor leader, said his GOP colleagues will get together next Tuesday to work over the governor's $1,800,000,000 budget.

"We'll get together to see what can be cut and how much," he said.

Since Leader plans to go to the governor's conference at Chicago next week, Mahany said, little progress is expected to be made.

Goddard Repeats Warning Against Fires In Woods

HARRISBURG, Aug. 5 (AP)—Dr. Maurice K. Goddard, secretary of forests and waters, today cautioned Pennsylvania residents against building fires near woodlands because of a "forest fire emergency."

Goddard said the lack of any appreciable rain in many parts of the state during the last month has created a serious condition in the Commonwealth's woodlands.

Warm weather and lack of rain, the secretary said, has dried out forest matings making the woodlands an easy prey to fires.

Margaret Truman Sails For Europe

NEW YORK, Aug. 5 (AP)—Margaret Truman sailed aboard the liner United States today for a seven-week tour of Europe.

The daughter of former President Truman said she will join Guri Lie, daughter of Trygve Lie, former secretary general of the United Nations, in Salzburg, Austria. They will tour Italy, Paris and London.

Cool Air Mass From Canada May Bring Temporary Relief

By The Associated Press

THE HEAT-HARASSED weatherman today held out promise of a two-day respite from the 90-plus temperatures that have left Pennsylvania parched, limp and wilted.

A large and "quite cool" air mass is moving toward the Commonwealth from the upper reaches of Canada—with every expectation its welcome relief will reach Pennsylvania by Sunday and last through Monday.

The state experienced temperatures in the high 90s Friday and the forecast for Saturday called for more of the same with scattered thundershowers due to bring cool air locally and temporarily.

After the Sunday-Monday "cold wave" with readings in the 80s, the weatherman said the mercury probably will start to climb again on Tuesday.

Tropical Storm
It is still too early, he said, to tell whether a tropical storm that developed its full fury in the West Indies yesterday will have any appreciable effect on the Pennsylvania picture.

"It will be at least five days," the weatherman said, "before we will know."

Temperatures soared to 100 degrees or over at five weather-reporting stations yesterday. The highest in the Commonwealth was a sizzling 102 at Middletown near Harrisburg.

The mercury climbed to 100 in Harrisburg for an Aug. 5 record, and also hit the century mark in Allentown, Williamsport and Selinsgrove.

Miss Miranda Succumbs To Heart Attack

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Aug. 5 (AP)—Carmen Miranda, peppery singer, dancer and actress famous for her fruit salad headgear, died today at her home.

The Brazilian personality, born in Portugal in 1914, suffered a heart attack after finishing a television film with Jimmy Durante last night.

Dr. W. L. Marxer said that Miss Miranda had had a light attack of bronchitis recently after her return from Cuba and several night club engagements.

Her husband, film producer David Sebastian, said that she apparently was feeling well after a late supper following her TV performance. She collapsed as she was going to bed, he said.

He Overdid It, Council Decides

MALVERNE, N. Y., Aug. 5 (AP)—The City Council has turned down a petition that Tilerose Avenue should be made a dead-end street because heavy traffic is endangering children.

The councilmen acted despite a report on a mechanical traffic counter that indicated 72 cars went down the street in 15 minutes. Police Chief James Ackley, who was hiding behind a tree, said a leader among the petitioners had driven his car back and forth over the counter's rubber hose "like a man running over a snake that he thought would never die."

Hurricane Is Heading Toward U. S.

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Aug. 5 (AP)—Hurricane Connie posed a threat tonight to a long arc of islands from the Leewards to the Bahamas. She was boiling in from the Atlantic in the region's most serious storm of the year.

The Weather Bureau said it she holds her present course west and west-northwestward, the hurricane's center will pass near Puerto Rico's north coast Saturday night. Winds up to 125 miles an hour were reported swirling as far as 65 miles from the center. Forward movement was 17 miles an hour.

A U. S. Navy Neptune plane commanded by Lt. Cmdr. R. C. Newman of Virginia, Minna, made a scouting flight into the hurricane about 500 miles from San Juan this morning.

Develops Strength
"We flew out expecting to find a small Connie," Newman told reporters upon his return, "but it had developed into a strong hurricane."

The Miami Weather Bureau put the southeastern coast of the United States from Cape Hatteras southward under a special weekend alert.

Circus Strike Ends

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 5 (AP)—The show went on as scheduled today in the big top of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus after a walkout of prop men shut down the St. Paul performance last night following the first act.

ADA Is Critical

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (AP)—Americans for Democratic Action today put a "do-nothing" label on the 1955 congressional session and heaped criticism on both President Eisenhower and Democratic leaders.

Thermometer Registers 100 Degrees

THUNDER shook, rattled and rolled around Stroudsburg yesterday but the clouds had no effect on the heat—it was 100 degrees in the borough at the hottest time of the day.

The thunder brought rain to some parts of the county—but not relief from the heat.

Humidity was high during the day. It ranged upward to 48 percent. The low temperature reading for the day was 70 degrees.

At 8 a.m. it was 79 degrees. By 8 last night the temperature had dropped down to 89 degrees.

In Mount Pocono the high for the day was 92.8 degrees with a low of 70 at 6 a.m.

By The Associated Press

Temperatures eased down in a large section of the county yesterday, but they boiled up again in New England.

Cooler air from Canada spread across the Northern Plains, the Upper Mississippi Valley and the Upper Great Lakes region. It was moving rather slowly in a southeasterly direction.

But the heat held firm in most of the nation.

The mercury hit 100 in Boston in midafternoon. It broke the record of 99 for the date.

Actress Dies At 21

Suzan Ball Loses Gallant Bid To Overcome Cancer

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 5 (AP)—Plucky Suzan Ball, who defied cancer to make good as an actress, died of the dread disease today at the age of 21.

She succumbed to cancer of the lungs, ending a two-year fight which drew the admiration of the nation.

Her young husband, actor Richard Long, was working in a film at the time of her death and was notified by a brother-in-law, Marshall Thompson, nearly an hour afterward.

Leg Amputated
The brunette beauty's pluck was acclaimed when she came back after a leg amputation over 18 months ago to marry, star in a movie and appear in a television play.

"It was what Suzan wanted to would cure her of cancer. But a year ago doctors told her husband, 'The illness stemmed from a fall on a dance floor more than two years ago. She had just been signed to a movie contract.

No one thought the injury would keep her from work long. But the leg didn't heal and doctors later decided she aggravated a dormant condition.

The following November she fell again. The leg did not respond to treatment. A bone graft was tried. On Jan. 13, 1954, her leg was removed.

Walked Up Aisle
She bounced back to seeming health and soon learned to walk with an artificial leg.

The surgery forced postponement of her wedding to Long. They were married in Santa Barbara, Calif., April 12, 1954. Susan walked up the aisle, just as she said she would.

Then she starred in a picture, "Chief Crazy Horse."

Rain (What's That?) Falls On Some Parts Of County

SOME PARTS OF Monroe County had a short, sweet rain shower yesterday afternoon.

Areas where some rain was reported included Hamilton Township, Minisink Hills, the Bushkill region, Delaware Water Gap, Shawnee-on-the-Delaware and some portions of the mountains.

There wasn't much to the rainfall. Highest guesses placed it at about a quarter-inch.

It rained enough, however, to leave mud puddles standing in the center of roads and driveways in Hamilton and Minisink regions. As one rural resident remarked, mud had never looked so good.

Only Meager Relief

Stroudsburg had a few drops of rain between 4:24 and 4:26 p.m. There wasn't enough of it to wet sidewalks, however, or drive pedestrians off the streets.

Yesterday's rain may have provided some small relief to withered gardens and other crops in rural areas where it hit. But the relief was negligible, so far as most residents were concerned.

To save Monroe County crops, gardens and lawns an earth-soaking rain of at least one full day is needed, the experts say. Yesterday's rain was little more than a drop in the bucket.

President Grants Walter's Requests

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (AP)—President Eisenhower issued executive orders today authorizing the House Un-American Activities Committee to examine federal income and other tax returns which may assist it in investigating subversive activities and propaganda.

The action was taken in response to a request from the chairman of the committee, Rep. Walter (D-Pa.). Tax information thus obtained by the committee must be regarded as confidential, but the committee may report to the House information pertinent to the investigation in which the data is used.

Loyalty Not At Issue
Landy's own loyalty was not questioned. The Navy merely said he was "extremely close to his mother and she has been a Communist."

The mother, Mrs. Deborah Landy, 54, of Bradley Beach, N. J., said her son talked her into quitting the party about 1947 after she had been a member for 10 years. She added:

"He sort of gave me an ultimatum that I quit or he would leave home. He reformed me and yet he is suffering from it. I'd rather go to jail than have him suffer."

Young Landy expressed fear his career in admiralty law might be endangered. Without the commission that merchant marine graduates normally receive, he will be liable for the draft. He intends to enter Yale University on a scholarship this fall to study law.

In Landy's class of 96 cadets, only two other graduates were denied commissions. Both flunked physical examinations.

Capitol Doubts Russia Will Ever Accept Ike Plan

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (AP)—United States officials took a more hopeful view of disarmament negotiations with Russia today after Soviet Premier Bulganin canceled his rejection of President Eisenhower's arms inspection plan.

The plan calls for the U. S. and Russia to swap military blueprints and permit aerial inspection of each other's territory.

Bulganin today promised consideration of this and all other serious disarmament propositions. No one here seriously thinks that after his criticisms of the Eisenhower suggestion in a speech in Moscow yesterday Bulganin will ever agree to it. It would seem to require too many changes in Russia's Iron Curtain existence.

KNOW HIM ?

Juvenile delinquency was just a term until they sent the boy down the street to what they politely termed a "training school." Then it became real, because this boy wasn't just a statistic but a kid who had played with your kids. Why, only last Sunday you had gone fishing with his father.

So now . . . you wondered why. The boy came from a good home—or did he? There was money enough, luxury enough, but it's true that his parents sometimes left him pretty much to his own devices. There were his mother's clubs and his father's business, and they led an active social life.

You asked yourself why . . . and in your heart you knew the answer. It lay in those gaps that had been left in his upbringing—great chinks, that should have been filled with faith, spiritual guidance, and solid enduring values. Thinking about it, you made up your mind to start taking your own kids to church on Sundays without fail—no matter how good the weather was for fishing.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Wallace Stevens, Poet-Insurance Executive, Brought Beauty To World

Yesterday in Hartford they buried the body of Wallace Stevens, an insurance man. Unlike a lot of executives, Stevens left an artistic dividend to the world. He was a poet.

It would be hard to say what effect Stevens the insurance executive may have on posterity. The lasting effect of his poetry is evident, even now, a day or so after his death. In his life as a poet Wallace Stevens compressed a large quantity of the beauty and human torment of the age in which he lived.

He did not choose to write in the flat, plain terms of a declarative poet; nearly everything he put down on paper was imaged to the point of abstraction. There was a key in each of his poems and once the key had been found the reader could look through a startling window at a world whose secrets he had not seen before.

Last year Stevens won the National Book Award for his Collected Poems. There were few persons who could honestly find fault with that decision. One of Stevens' poems, "The Man With The Blue Guitar", was as true in its poetic technique, as good in its mood and as fine in its feeling as anything written in the English language during the past half century. There were others, equally fine.

But the thing which made Wallace Stevens great as a human being, was the very thing which made him an exception to the rule of American business life. Poetry was not a hobby with him. It was a serious, meaningful life's work. So, oddly enough, was the position he held as an insurance company executive. He performed his duties, in both jobs with great competence.

At the end of his life he had written a policy for all men of good faith in "commercial" America. In an age where intellect was often looked down upon and poetry was a matter for some derision, Wallace Stevens, perhaps more than any other man, reconciled the world of strict routine with the dream of beauty as he saw it.

There will be no more music from him, now. What remains from his life still goes on playing from the printed page in the minds of those who choose to read or wish to hear. So be it.—By Leonard Randolph.

Milk In Gallon Jugs, Dispensing Machines: Healthy Bodies, Economy

Our people will buy more milk if it is made available to them at lower prices for family use and in convenient locations for refreshment between meals.

Milk in gallon jugs has been a big seller everywhere it was introduced—it was first tried on a large scale in Akron several years ago—and now it is being marketed successfully in the Washington, D. C., area.

Many public buildings, and even roadside stands and gasoline stations, have dispensers of milk where formerly only soda pop was available.

The increase in milk consumption is good from the economic as well as the health standpoint. For it no longer seems likely the Government will have to contend with large surpluses of dairy products under the price-support program—or that the taxpayers will have to pay for them.

Milk is one of the best of foods, and a food America can produce in almost unlimited quantity. Making it available cheaply and freely is a good thing for all concerned.

George Sokolsky Says...

Enormous Funds Raised For Presidential Elections Means Government By Favorites

It is because of the enormous amounts of money that each political party has to raise to get itself elected to office that our Government, despite its enormous complexity, continues to an astonishing degree to be governed by Presidential favorites—favorites in the sense that someone is rewarded by their appointment to various offices.

Even the President's Cabinet, which should be the highest administrative body in the land, often includes men whose principal qualification is fund-raising activity. Sometimes such men are rewarded for pre-convention loyalty to the fortunate contender for the Presidency. There seem to be degrees of loyalty that have to be taken into account: Those who were loyal before the Convention; those who became loyal at the Convention; those who were bought during the Convention; those who became loyal during the election campaign. It takes any President some time to shake such people out of his Administration and he has to do it with extraordinary politeness to avoid damaging local relationships for his next campaign.

As so much political money has its origin in New York, those who have access to New York money collections are very important persons politically. They often collect from out-of-towners who make their headquarters in New York. The credit goes to their home state. Often the collectors are lacking in political ideas and are not trained for the peculiarities of government service, but they expect a reward. Some of them have never been associated with any activity other than financing, which means that they know how to pull money together from various sources, to put that money behind the purchase of an old venture or to create a new one, to find the personnel for operations and to push a product or a service. These men make excellent managers in private enterprise.

While such managerial qualities are rare and command a high reward in business, they are not always suitable in the policy-making agencies of government, in which the individual is often required to possess philosophic qualities and historic aptitude to grasp the political potentials of a problem. The so-called policy men in government offices are rarely good at management.

The value of the Hoover Commission's reports, apart from the great volume of detail concerning our Government made available in the Task Force papers, is that they call attention to the astonishing fact that a nation which is prime in industrial and agricultural efficiency, is incapable of efficiency in government. Our Administration is costly, duplicative, wasteful and hard on citizens. It rarely performs its functions as capably as private business does.

None of the business men in government would manage their own businesses as they run their government departments. Before they take office, they always know exactly what to do; after they take office, they soon become bogged down in the administrative morass which they find in Washington. A creeping disease overtakes them; they want to be popular; they want to be admired by their own assistants; they come to like publicity and particularly pictures of themselves. These business men in government know how to manage their offices efficiently; it is rather that they dare not become involved in politically awkward situations. They are more troubled by public relations than by problems of management.

Ezra Taft Benson is an excellent example of the government official who tries to run a non-politically motivated administrative agency and always finds himself in political difficulties. He has not been able to break away from an internal pressure-group organization, within his Administration, which he intended to clean out when he took over but which is still functioning, with great power because it is politically stronger than the responsible head of the department.

Robert Stevens was never in charge of the Army when he was its Secretary because the political generals and the inside civilian staff organized to control him. Harold Talbot quarreled with generals and admirals who finally discovered an Achilles heel and got him out. The Eisenhower Administration has a large turnover on the second level of administration because so many who came to Washington with him to help establish an efficient Administration discovered that what they knew as efficiency outside government is not wanted, for political and fund-raising reasons, inside government.

This writer tried to call the Mayor of our town to make an inquiry concerning this and was informed by the telephone operator that the Mayor's telephone was temporarily disconnected.

I also called the councilman of my ward and could not contact him as he was living out of town and could not be contacted by telephone. (A FINE STATE OF AFFAIRS.)

Finally this writer contacted a member of council of another ward and I was informed by this member that the council knew nothing about this matter.

Now Mr. Editor, does this action on the part of WHITE HERON LAKE give the citizens and taxpayers of East Stroudsburg the right to fish in WHITE HERON LAKE?

Perhaps the taxpayers, themselves have something to say about this.

I think that the taxpayers and citizens of East Stroudsburg are entitled to know what individual gave permission to WHITE HERON LAKE to net these fish.

It might be well to remember that the pond has been there for 55 years and has always had plenty of water despite the dry conditions that have prevailed through the years.

Hoover Describes Crime As Threat To Security

Washington—Crime has always been a major problem to the Federal Bureau of Investigation but now FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover says it's "a distinct threat" to "the security and well-being of the United States."

Unfortunately, says Hoover, many robberies, burglaries and larceny cases are being committed by young people—"boys and girls who should be training to be our leaders of tomorrow."

Now the FBI chief warns: "The time has come for every American to stop and 'take stock' of this serious situation. Crime thrives on our mistakes, weaknesses and lack of interest."

"The challenge is before us—we as a nation must roll up our sleeves and work together in a united crusade. Crime is everybody's business. To think otherwise is to abet the evil we abhor."

Exit Hughes?—Budget Director Rowland Hughes may be the next Eisenhower administration high-level government service.

The President is said to be more than a little irritated by Hughes' role in connection with the now defunct Dixon-Yates power contract. Mr. Eisenhower's irritation reportedly stems from the fact that on the basis of information he had at the time, he told a news conference that Adolph Wenzell "was never called in or asked a single thing about the Dixon-Yates contract."

Obviously, the chief executive was ill-informed, for it later developed that Wenzell did play quite an active role in the Dixon-Yates deal.

Wenzell was a consultant to the government on the contract. His firm, the First Boston Corp., later became financial agent for the private power syndicate.

The President is described as feeling that Hughes should have briefed him more thoroughly on the Wenzell matter.

Elections—Democratic politicians are confident that their party can retain control of Congress in next year's election even if President Eisenhower seeks a second term and wins re-election.

The Democrats say that, having some unexpected upswing in GOP strength, they should be able to increase their narrow margin in the Senate and at least hold their advantage in the House.

Behind this Democratic optimism is the thinking that while President Eisenhower himself is a popular figure, the Republican party doesn't have the nationwide popularity of the Democrats.

This, of course, is disputed by the Republicans. The GOP leaders say their ranks are increasing each day with Mr. Eisenhower in the White House and expect to regain a majority in both the Senate and House.

Aid To Tito—The United States may stop aid to Marshal Tito's government until Yugoslavia permits full inspection of the use of American weapons.

Yugoslavia has continually refused to allow United States military inspectors in that country to make routine checks of American military aid.

Moreover, Yugoslavia seems to be pouring oil on the fire by letting it be known it might produce Russian MIG fighters along the Western powers allow some of their planes to be built in Yugoslavia.

The Senate appropriations committee has already recommended that United States military and economic aid to Yugoslavia be suspended until the Yugoslavians permit "continuous observation and review" of military assistance as required by the 1951 aid agreement signed by Yugoslavia.

Cecil B. DeMille remembers one script that called for a passel of extras to rush upon a leper in the marketplace, shouting, "Unclean! Unclean!" He didn't notice that his typist had made a slight error in the mimeographed script she handed the extras.

So the first time he called "Action!" the mob dutifully descended upon the leper, hollering, "Uncle! Uncle!"

A builder was distressed to be told over the phone that a new structure he was financing had collapsed. "Does the foreman know of the disaster?" he inquired.

Congress Battled Over Sitting Bull's Remains

Hot Issue — Congress' stormy wind-up wasn't all feudin' and fightin'!

There were a few light interludes; such as the senatorial discussion about the remains of Chief Sitting Bull.

Three august senators deliberated this weighty subject, and while they came to no conclusion, it was obvious that both they and their colleagues enjoyed the change of pace, so to speak.

Senator Paul Douglas (D., Ill.), one-time economics professor and chairman of the Joint Economic Committee, touched off the debate.

"I notice," he remarked, "that this bill provides for the conveyance of land where Chief Sitting Bull was originally buried. Can the Senator from Oregon inform us whether Sitting Bull is now buried there, or have his remains been taken by some other state by force majeure?"

"I had no intention of becoming involved in a controversy with the senators from North and South Dakota, and probably from other Western states, many of whom I understand claim the honor of having interred the bones of Sitting Bull," replied Senator Wayne Morse (D., Ore.).

"Frankly, I don't know where he is buried, but this particular bill is sound since it does not violate the principle I have tried to protect, namely that taxpayers' property shall not be given away for nothing."

"But wouldn't the Senate find itself in a ridiculous position," argued Douglas, "if other bills should be introduced relating to the burial place of Chief Sitting Bull? I take it that he was not buried in two other places, and perhaps he is not even buried where he is supposed to have been buried, as stated in this bill."

Morse defended the right of an Indian tribe to donate property for the preservation of Indian traditions, if they want to do that. Douglas agreed with him, but raised this point.

"Not to make a play on words," he said, "but isn't the question before Congress — where does Sitting Bull lie?"

This brought Senator Joseph O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.), to his feet.

"Whether or not Chief Sitting Bull's bones lie within the state of North Dakota," he declared, "it will be remembered that these Indians, who lived in the great West before the coming of the white man, roamed throughout that area long before any state lines were ever thought of."

"I am aware of that," agreed

Douglas, "but I remember the afternoon in this chamber when members from, I believe, five states, claimed their states were the home state of Sacajawea, who accompanied Lewis and Clark on their famous expedition to the Pacific. Each of these five senators claimed that Sacajawea is buried in his particular state."

"When the Senator from Illinois does me the honor of coming to Wyoming," said O'Mahoney, "I shall be happy indeed to take him to the Wind River Reservation, and to show him where the famous guide of Lewis and Clark actually is buried."

"I thank the Senator," replied Douglas, "but I must point out to him that the same offer has been made to me by the senators from North Dakota, South Dakota, Idaho, Montana, Washington, and Oregon."

O'Mahoney, joining in the laughter, placatingly answered, "All that merely testifies to the honor which is being paid by the states of the West to the famous guide of Lewis and Clark."

Note: Regardless of whether there is or is not a special session, there will be a number of congressional investigations in the fall. Both Senate and House probers have extensive headline-making plans. Among them are: The Joint Committee on the Economy Report, headed by Senator Paul Douglas (D., Ill.), which has set up a number of subcommittees to conduct inquiries into economic statistics, foreign trade policy, tax policy, low income families, and economic stabilization; the House Judiciary Committee's probe of businessmen acting as unpaid advisers to government agencies handling billions of dollars in defense and other contracts; a House Appropriations subcommittee, headed by Representative John Rooney (D., N. Y.), to investigate the student exchange program, and various phases of the foreign aid program, particularly relating to so-called counterpart funds.

Talking Things Over — Minor boss John L. Lewis and Benjamin Fairless, recently retired head of U. S. Steel, had a private conference on getting federal funds to deepen the channel of the Delaware River, which the corporation strongly favors for its new mill in that area. . . . Approximately half of the government offices in Washington are now air-conditioned. Employees in those that aren't are permitted to leave early when the temperature reaches 95 with 55 percent humidity, or 96 and 52, 97 and 49, 98 and 45, 99 and 42, or 100 degrees and 38 percent humidity. . . . Senator Estes Kefauver (D., Tenn.), one of a number of members of Congress who are visiting Russia, has asked for permission to tour tank and automobile plants; also to take a flight in one of the Reds' new strategic bombers, comparable to our B-52.

Health Dangers From Ticks

—by H. G. Heller

The Stroudsburg Board of Health has joined State Department of Health in a warning to persons who work or spend time in the woods and fields to be on the lookout for ticks.

The state group said 11 cases of Rocky Mountain Spotted fever, which is transmitted by ticks, have been reported so far this year. The disease is quite serious.

Local health board officials have made a careful check and report that ticks are in woods and fields in this region.

Dr. Ernest J. White, chief of the state department's division of Veterinary Public Health, said the most common carrier is the dog tick.

The department chief said persons active in woods and fields should make a careful examination for ticks after leaving the area. Insects can be removed by direct application of kerosene, iodine or other irritants which causes the tick to relax its hold. With tweezers the tick can then be lifted from the skin. Care should be used to avoid crushing the tick and thus contaminating the skin.

Ticks can be distinguished because they have four instead of three pairs of legs in their adult stages and their bodies lack the separate thoracic region of true insects.

Rocky Mountain adult wood ticks have been known to survive three winters. Many ticks have simple eyes with which they can discern the passing shadow of a potential victim.

Others have no eyes. Special sense organs enable them to detect animals 25 feet or more away, so that an unwitting camper may attract ticks from a considerable area. Many ticks are thus able to select favorable sites — game trails for instance — for seeking their host.

They have numerous progeny and few enemies, are not greatly affected by weather conditions, can feed upon various animals, and permit the passage of disease organisms from stage to stage as well as from one generation to another through the egg. Instances of secondary infection at the point of tick attack occur often.

Tick-borne typhuslike diseases are assuming increasing proportions in various parts of the world, with the American or Rocky Mountain spotted fever in most countries in the "New World."

Kicking the Gong Around: Recent stories about T-Men smashing a Peruvian cocaine ring didn't go behind the headlines. Cocaine is by far the deadliest dope known to man because its addicts become killers. Almost all cocaine comes from Peru. Through the efforts of U. S. Narcotics Comm. Amstrong its importation into the U. S. was completely shut off for more than a decade until Fair Deal days.

Chapter Two: Then Peru went leftwing, with our help. Its pro-Communist government built 17 cocaine factories. Double doses in our State Department handcuffed Amstrong when he tried to keep the dope out. Said we couldn't anger our Latin American friends. Came new administrations—here and in Peru. The U. S. Bureau was unchained. Last April one American agent went to Lima—we couldn't afford more than one because we're too busy giving dough to other countries. At the risk of his life—he was slugged and beaten—he gathered the evidence that resulted in these first steps in New York to break the ring. It showed the Reds are still in back of it.

Red Cross Committee Heads Named

A PARTIAL list of Red Cross committee chairmen was presented last night by Charles Bensinger, president, to the executive board for approval. They are: Home Service, Mrs. Clifford Heller; blood bank, Mrs. LeRoy Mikels; volunteer services, Mrs. LeRoy Koehler; first aid, Mrs. Jack Pine; and water safety, Mrs. Arthur Henning.

Mrs. Henning, reporting on water safety at the board meeting held last night at Red Cross headquarters, reported a most successful season, with the program at its highest level in years not only at the playground pools but in the camps of the county as well.

She announced that the national Red Cross representative Morris Donovan would conduct the first instructor's course at the East Stroudsburg pool on Monday night at 6:30.

Home Service Cases

The home service case load for July included 14 cases of which 13 were men in active service or their families. One case was given home financial assistance; there were 93 requests not counted as cases; 8 telegrams and 13 long distance calls made on behalf of servicemen and their families; 38 office interviews and 9 meal tickets given to transients.

LeRoy Mikels reported 66 pints of blood had been given at the August visit of the bloodmobile.

Since there was no bloodmobile visit during July, the volunteer service hours were chiefly for Gray Lady service at the hospital. Mrs. LeRoy Koehler reported that 42 Gray Ladies had given more than 419 hours during July. Two administration aides gave 2 hours of service. She also summarized the June report when 71 volunteers gave 740 hours of service.

Swim Course Opens Monday

AN AMERICAN Red Cross sanctioned and conducted instructor's course for swimmers will open at 6:30 p.m. Monday at East Stroudsburg's swimming pool.

Dan Donovan, American Red Cross water safety and swimming expert, is being brought here by Monroe County chapter of American Red Cross to conduct the course.

An announcement will be made on the schedule of classes for the remainder of the week.

Sash Cord Is Clue In Club Robbery

STATE POLICE yesterday asked all local motel, hotel and resort owners to check venetian blinds in their establishments for a possible missing sash cord.

The request was made by Alexander Kearn, trooper in charge of the investigation of the Club Fernwood burglary last Monday morning.

Kearn said the length of cord in which police are interested is red in color. It is a cord ordinarily found on venetian blinds.

Any one discovering a blind from which a red-colored sash cord is missing is asked to contact Stroudsburg State police, Kearn said.

Forest Fires Under Control In Region

FIREFIGHTERS kept forest flames under control in Monroe County yesterday.

District Forester E. C. Pyle said last night that no new fires were reported with the exception of one minor blaze in Pocono Township.

Rangers and volunteers kept flames from spreading at the county's two major blazes—on Effort Mountain and at Brady's Lake.

The Effort Mountain fire has burned off more than 3,000 acres since it was set two weeks ago by arsonists. A $700 reward is now being offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who set the fire. Five hundred dollars of the amount is offered by the Department of Forests and Waters; the other $200 has been put up by a county resident.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

What else is there to talk about except the you-know-what? Well, the girls getting ready for college this Fall for the first time are lost to the world in the current crop of fashion magazines. They're pondering colored linen stockings to match blue, green or purple shoes.

They're bemoaning the fact that their summer salaries aren't going to stretch to cover all the things they think they need. In spite of the advice of sophisticated sophomores that clothes aren't the major problem in college.

The Stroudsburg High School Seniors class of '55 are talking about the first big wedding since graduation when Barbara Smith gets married today in Lafayette's Chapel.

Grandmothers are waiting impatiently for other grandmothers to stop talking about the grandchildren home for vacation-time long enough to get in a word about their own grandchildren.

Margaret MacLaren is talking about the danger of spoilage of hard-boiled eggs this hot weather on picnics, and I just remembered that I sent my children off to work with egg-salad sandwiches—glug.

And some organizations, bless their hearts, are talking about plans for September meetings. Ah, September—with frost on the ground and a chill in the air and a stiff breeze blowing.

Home Ec. Leader Warns Of Danger In Egg Salads

A timely warning to Monroe County picnickers has been issued by Margaret MacLaren, county extension home economist.

That picnic basket favorite... hard-cooked eggs... is a spoilage hazard unless you keep them in the shell, Miss MacLaren warns. The unbroken shell and lining underneath give good protection from spoilage.

Stuffed eggs and egg mixtures for sandwiches and salads MUST be kept under refrigeration from the time they are prepared until they're eaten. That's especially important in hot summer weather.

Use top-quality eggs for hard-cooking. The flavor will be better and the yolk will be in the middle of the egg—important if you want to stuff them. If you plan to chop eggs for salad, grade B eggs are all right. They cost less and are suitable for this use.

Eggs that are properly hard-cooked are simmered... not boiled. Simmering gives them a firm, tender white instead of the tough, leathery white you get from boiling.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture recommends this method for hard-cooking eggs.

Wash the eggs and place them in a pan of cold water. Cover the pan and bring the water to a simmer... that's just below boiling. Allow the eggs to simmer for 25 to 30 minutes, depending on the size of the egg.

After cooking, put the eggs in cold water. This stops the cooking action and helps prevent the dark ring from forming on the outside of the yolk.

You can shell hard-cooked eggs faster, under running water. This washes away the tiny bits of shell that cling to the white.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

Everything is ducky in Hungary. I'm not an international expert or a master of horoscopes—I'm simply judging from the cute little ducks now on sale at 49c in our gift department. Miniatures that would be attractive on your knick knack shelf or in your miniature rock garden centerpiece, these are covered with real feathers and even have perky, upturned tails. At conversation pieces they could surely be counted to "quack" the ice anytime anywhere.

If there was any sign of rain yesterday, kindly give credit to Wyckoff's. If there was no rain yesterday, kindly blame it on the weatherman, that inconsiderate fellow!

Our store plane, piloted by Holt Wyckoff, took off bright and early in the sweltering morning for Connecticut with a cargo consisting of Cora Albertson, head of our lingerie department; Edna Harmon, head of our jewelry department; Betty Bartholomew, of our merchandise office, and J. L. Kerlin, our general manager. It was my suggestion that as a service to their fellow men they seed a few clouds with dry ice on the way. (Of course, seedling clouds isn't enough, unless the clouds are moisture laden and in a mood to be cooperative.)

I doubt that they took me seriously, however, although heaven knows I'm so interested in rain at this point I'm in favor of us all joining in a typical Indian ceremonial dance. If I ever again say "Rain, rain go away," I hope I strangle on the words!

A lazy Susan that will turn everything except handsprings has made a smart appearance in our gift department, and Hannah Shupp advises me that it will balance anything up to 200 pounds in weight. This being true, one could almost use it as a carnival carousel!

Our turn-all Susan is a deep, lustrous walnut finish, and goodness knows it occupies a minimum of space, being not much more than ten inches in diameter if it's that. It sells for 2.98 and will enter the social whirl gaily by holding your cake platters, hors d'oeuvre dishes, floral centerpieces, games of Scrabble, and almost anything else you wish. Ball bearings lend smoothness to its operation.

Anybody for a spin on a lazy Susan? Don't know exactly how it might work, but no harm in asking!

Looking for an unusual and highly personal 1.00 gift? Why not see the birthday pencils so right for one's purse or pocket, on display in our stationery department. Each pencil, gift finished, has one's birth flower at the side and the month's birthstone in the top. An attractive way of saying to someone, "This was selected for you personally."

Mr. Butler, a native of Sterling, Wayne County, and his family have spent several years in the Far East under the sponsorship of Gracy Missions, Dunmore, and expect to return to that area in the near future.

Rev. Harry Roof, pastor of the South Sterling Methodist Church, extends an invitation to the public to hear this interesting group of speakers.

Institute Dean To Speak Sunday

SWITZWATER — Mrs. Marie King, of East Providence, R. I., was guest speaker last Sunday at the Paradise Valley Assembly of God Church. The pastor, Rev. David M. Wellard spoke at the Stroudsburg church in the morning, and at Hamilton in the afternoon.

Women Take Up Paperhanging

NEW YORK, Aug. 5 (AP)—New York City's only professional lady paperhangers call their craft "the silk stocking of the building trades."

Mrs. Helen Burkhardt and her niece Nancy Schmelger own their own station wagon and work together as a team.

It takes a three-year apprenticeship to belong to the union, said Mrs. Burkhardt, but "it's better than scrubbing floors."

Davy Crockett Rodeo One Of Show's Many Attractions

THE DAVY CROCKETT Rodeo, complete with all the trimmings of the West, will be one of the many outstanding shows at the Tri-State Fair to be held at Stroudsburg Speedway from Monday, Aug. 8, to Saturday, Aug. 13.

The entire fair is under the sponsorship of the George N. Kemp American Legion Post.

Davy Crockett, portrayed by Rod Randall, one of the top western characters of this modern age, will thrill both the young and old with his many feats of endurance and ability throughout the show that will run three days.

The rodeo will be held on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday and will begin at 8:30 p.m. each day.

65 Animals

Randall has gathered from the far reaches of the West one of the toughest herds of rodeo stock, 65 in number, that has ever been witnessed this far east. Wild outlaw bucking horses from the great plains of Montana; wild brahma bulls from the grass country of Texas and Florida; the wiry Mexican steers from old Mexico, together with cowboys and cowgirls will present one of the most thrilling rodeos ever witnessed in this section of the country.

There will be bronc riding, calf roping, bulldogging, wild brahma bull riding events, plus trick riding, trick roping and clown acts.

Every youngster under 16 will receive an autographed photograph of Davy Crockett.

The rodeo will give a big send-off to the fair that will also feature two auto races, a thrill show, Martha Carson's Grand Ole Opry, and Lady Rhoda, the X-Ray Vision Girl, plus the Penn Premier Shows on the midway.

Market Shares Rebound From Sharp Decline

NEW YORK, Aug. 5 (AP)—The stock market advanced today in a rebound from yesterday's sharp decline, but it was a slow motion affair.

Steels were higher along with the rubbers, utilities, coppers, most chemicals, the railroads, oils, airlines, movie issues, and the building materials.

Gains went to between 1 and 3 points. Losses seldom exceeded a point.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 80 cents at $172.40. It was off $2.40 yesterday as the Federal Reserve and New York commercial banks raised their interest rates on loans as an anti-inflation move.

Industrial Advance
The industrial component of the average was up $1.30, railroads gained 50 cents, and utilities were up 30 cents.

The market was the narrowest since early September a year ago with only 1,129 individual issues traded. Of these, 538 advanced and 233 declined with 28 new highs and 10 new lows for the year.

Volume came to 1,690,000 shares, second lowest total this year. Yesterday's business amounted to 2,210,000 shares.

The American Stock Exchange was rather mixed but tending higher. Volume was 610,000 shares as against 660,000 shares yesterday.

Corporate bonds were widely mixed. U. S. governments over the counter were higher.

Bulganin Reverses Field As Result Of World Opinion

By J. M. Roberts
Associated Press News Analyst

Premier Bulganin seems to be having quite a time juggling Russia's determination to hold tight to what she has and at the same time continue the sweetness and light campaign.

On Thursday, Bulganin sounded very much like he was rejecting President Eisenhower's blueprint exchange idea and demanding that the world accept Russia's terms for a first step toward disarmament.

Seemingly Closed Door
Bulganin got a very bad press. He had already been accused of taking the bloom off Geneva by putting reunification of Germany into the far future and upholding international Communist subversion. His speech about mutual security arrangements and disarmament seemed just about to close the door.

Eisenhower said, however, that he wasn't giving up. New and expanded plans would be put forward.

Then came the surprise. Bulganin said he hadn't intended to close any doors. Some things were going to be worked out. Members of the Supreme Soviet cheered.

At the same time the United States announced it was renewing its studies of whether and how surplus American farm products might be sold within the Soviet sphere.

Trade had been the one thing on which agreement looked most hopeful at Geneva. The Communists have been having a bad time with their agricultural program, and this was believed to be a field

In which some mutually profitable arrangement might be made.

New Line
At least there was one thing. The President and the Premier, by mutual preservation of good humor and expressions of good will, had gotten by what promised for a moment to be a serious contretemps.

Bulganin's corrective statement before the Supreme Soviet, re-asserting the coexistence campaign and maintaining the policy of expressing international friendliness, now becomes the official domestic as well as diplomatic line.

Originally the group was called to hear a report on Geneva, where Bulganin said "positive results" had been attained. The world's interpretation of his first statement, however, apparently led him farther than he had originally intended.
